PARENTS

You're invited to particpate in the TAPP research study!

Your school is taking part in the Teachers & Parents as Partners (TAPP) research study. If you agree to participate, you will help us test a program designed to support children who have behavior challenges at home and school.

Learn more at: go.unl.edu/tapp-online

All enrolled parents will:

- Complete 2 online surveys.
- Complete 10 short checklists (5 minutes each).
- Allow your child's teacher to record 8 classroom sessions (30 minutes each).

Parents will be randomly assigned to the TAPP Now or the TAPP Later group.

TAPP Now Group:

- Within a period of about 8 weeks, a school specialist will facilitate a series of 3-4 meetings with you and your child's teacher.
- You, the teacher, and the school specialist will create a plan to improve your child's behavior at home and in school.
- Receive up to $600 for participation.

TAPP Later Group:

- You will continue interacting with your child and their teacher as you normally would.
- Receive up to $500 for participation.
